

Correct Maintenance of Furniture Sets

Dear Customer,

Thank you for the purchase of a RUKU1952® folding furniture set.

The wood of our tables and benches is carefully selected and processed in elaborate steps. The base frames are made of high-quality materials as well, and thus ensure very high stability.

Unlike other materials, wood is a living raw material. In order to increase the lifespan of your purchased product, we would like to give you some tips for the correct care:

- › High temperature fluctuations caused by strong solar radiation cause tension in the wood, which can only be partially absorbed by the material. This means that despite careful manufacturing and high quality materials, cracks may appear in the wood. This is why you should, protect the folding furniture set from the blazing sun.
- › In case of rain,, the tables and benches should be placed at a slight angle so that the water can run off. Alternatively, the beer table set can be covered with a waterproof tarpaulin. Afterwards, the tables and benches should always be well dried.
- › To protect the coating on the surface of the tables and benches, please remove leaves, pollen and other organic substances.
- › To prevent moisture from being absorbed by the wood, it is important to stack the tables and benches with the underside is facing downwards. If the tables and benches are not used for a longer period of time, we recommend storing them in a dry place.

Follow these advices and you will be able to maximise the service life of your folding furniture set!
